Description

Step into Villa Marta and feel Casa de Campo's most spectacular ocean and golf views wash over you. This 16,000-square-foot estate sits in Barranca, where eight bedrooms sleep twenty guests in complete privacy.

Your mornings start with coffee on the terrace, watching the sun paint the Caribbean in gold. By noon, you're floating in the 60-foot infinity pool that seems to spill into the horizon. The swim-up bar means your piña colada is always within reach. Eight of you can soak in the heated Jacuzzi while the chef prepares lunch.

Each bedroom tells its own story. Vaulted wooden ceilings soar above king beds. Stone walls keep rooms naturally cool. Every bathroom has its own character: some with garden-view soaking tubs, others with rain showers that make you forget time exists.

The living spaces flow together like a conversation. The main floor TV room leads to terraces where wicker furniture invites long talks. Downstairs, the pool table and private bar create your own club. The kitchen, with its granite island and professional appliances, handles everything from midnight snacks to formal dinners.

Your dedicated staff makes life simple. The chef crafts meals to your taste. The house manager ensures drinks appear before you realize you're thirsty. The housekeeper and gardener work quietly in the background. Service runs from 8 AM to midnight.

Two golf carts wait in the driveway. Airport transfers are arranged. The 24/7 concierge handles yacht charters, spa appointments, whatever you need.
