Description

This 16th-century watchtower turned luxury villa sits dramatically above the Mediterranean. Six bedrooms sleep 12 guests across multiple levels connected by garden terraces and panoramic walkways.

Wake up to uninterrupted sea views. Step onto your private terrace with morning coffee. Follow the private path down through lemon groves to your own beach access.

The villa preserves its original stone architecture while delivering modern comfort. Antique furniture fills sun-drenched rooms. Hand-painted ceramics from nearby Vietri sul Mare cover the floors. Every bedroom has its own bathroom, air conditioning, smart TV, and safe.

Outside, the heated infinity pool seems to float between sky and sea. The winter garden holds a billiard table and piano. The marble dining table on the main terrace seats everyone for sunset dinners.

Two ground-floor bedrooms offer independent access for privacy. Two first-floor rooms open to a massive terrace with a bar corner. The top floor connects two more bedrooms through an antique library corridor.

The fully equipped kitchen and multiple living spaces let you spread out. High-speed WiFi keeps you connected. The 24-hour concierge can arrange anything from yacht charters to private chefs.

Amalfi and Positano are minutes away. Capri and Ischia make easy day trips. But with views like these, you might never leave.

Weekly rentals start at €6,000 in low season.
